Note:

1. Our classes are not A-G approved, which could inhibit entrance into a Cal State or UC school as a freshman. Transferring from a community college to a Cal State or UC school is fine without HS A-G classes.
2. If you plan on attending a junior college, A-G courses are not required.
4. If you plan on attending a four year university directly out of high school, make sure to take the SAT or ACT.
5. It is important to keep all records, course descriptions and work completed through the duration of high school.

Math Courses
Friday	Algebra I	This course introduces students to solving linear equations, factoring, studying exponents and rational expressions, and problem solving. These are all reoccurring topics in higher math courses throughout the rest of high school and in college. This course ensures a solid foundation in Algebra to ensure there is no struggle when the time comes for their next math classes. Students will be assigned daily assignments to ensure the concepts taught in class stay fresh in their minds. Tests will be assigned but administered by their parent.	Algebra 1 BJU Press 2nd Ed Teachers Edition (Required) - 2 Volumes, both are required	Naomee Freedman	Naomee was homeschooled from 3rd grade through highschool. She attended Citrus College at 15 and is now a math major at Cal State Fullerton. She is working on her pure mathematics bachelors. She has earned her IGETC and CSUGE certification and is one class away from an AS degree in mathematics. She is a tutor for Citrus College and their PAGE summer program where she will be teaching 8th and 9th grade math.	Email: keimathkid7@gmail.com Cell: (909)-568-1075
Friday	Geometry	Overview of the course: This is a full year, high school level geometry course. The curriculum is a proof-based presentation of Euclidean geometry as a model of God's creative ability. Unlike some integrated geometry curricula, the course is designed to focus on the principles of logical reason used by Euclid in his original system of geometry. The course covers all familiar geometry (points, lines, planes, polygons etc.) with an emphasis on evaluating the reasons to make claims about these objects; this means a plain assessment of arguments from established fact. Mathematical concepts discussed in this course: Incidence geometry; Subsets of lines; Places and space; Segments and measurement; Angles and measurement; Preparing proofs; Congruence; Triangles and quadrilaterals; Area of two and three dimensional forms; Circles and the related geometric functions; Space and how geometry applies in three dimensions; Volume; Transformations and symmetry; Two-column proofs, heavy emphasis throughout the entire course.	BJU Geometry Student Text 4th edition	Luke Miller	Luke graduated from UC Berkeley with a bachelors in philosophy and a minor in logic. His emphasis was in mathematical reasoning, and through this formal training he has developed a proficiency in it. Luke is a graduate of Western Christian PSP and is dedicated to upholding the integrity of its academic and character training.	Email: luke_miller65@yahoo.com Cell: (626)-673-9574

Friday	Algebra II	This is a full year, high school level course. Algebra 2 immediately builds on and develops concepts introduced in algebra 1. It is important that students complete Algebra 1 or equivalent prior to enrollment. The algebra sequence is best taken without interruption. This means Algebra 2 is best taken in the year immediately following algebra 1, although exceptionally motivated students may have no trouble returning to year-old skills and concepts. In most cases, re-learning algebra 1 in the process can be a frustrating experience for some students. Friday	Consumer Math	Overview of the course: this is a full year math course designed to prepare students for a life of good stewardship, preparing them in skills necessary for life in the real world. The areas of focus include personal finance, debt and loan decision making, rudimentary economics and more. In a world of headlines and research studies, it is imperative that students leave high school with an understanding of statistics sufficient to protect themselves and others from misleading interpretation of data. This course is good for any student, but designed with the less mathy person in mind. This is the course which is "real world math". I highly recommend that every student take this course or equivalent before graduating highschool and leaving home. Friday	Pre-Calculus	Pre-Calculus is a two-semester review of mathematics designed as a checkpoint preparatory for calculus. The course is designed with the college-bound student in mind, and is practically necessary for higher-level math for any stem and stem-related field (the traditional sciences like chemistry and physics, as well as academic fields like economics, business, and engineering). Pre-calculus is a prerequisite for many lower-division college courses, but can be quite challenging for many students. It is recommended that a student take both algebra 2 and geometry prior to enrollment, but a highly capable and intrinsically motivated student might still excel without these courses. It is, however, expected that a student be proficient in algebra prior to this course, as the skills presented are utilized and developed throughout pre-calculus. English Courses

Monday	Plants and Proverbs (I & II)	Literature inspired by agriculture and its principles: This class will be held in an outdoor classroom where your student can see, touch, taste, smell, hear and experience every aspect of farm life for a few hours a week. A hands-on and full sensory agricultural experience -- coupled with classical and contemporary literary selections (biblical, fiction, and non-fiction) - where elements of agriculture are the focus. This multi-faceted class will include reading and writing commentary about literary works; artistic and culinary expression; and then the opportunity to experience the concepts studied first hand by getting our hands dirty in the garden and working around the farm. Literature forms may also include contemporary writings & documentaries involving the evolution of farming and food. A 30 session class held rain (under cover) or shine outdoors with a maximum of 10 students per class. Class to be held at Amy's Farm in Ontario :: P&P1 Mondays 9a-11a ; P&P2 Mondays 10a-12n. (2 possible urban farm field trips to a local college and/or community garden).	Book list to be provided; contact teacher.	Heidi Ollman	Heidi earned her BA in English Education (speech communication emphasis) from CSULB and her MS/SS credential at APU. She has homeschooled her children from the start, 2 now-college students graduating through the WCSPSP and another currently enrolled. She also conducts educational tours and classes for all ages at Amy's Farm in Ontario.	Email: heidi.ollman@gmail.com Cell: (909)-319-8432

Friday	World Literature	The focus of this class will be studying literature from around the world. The goal is to teach students how to understand the underlying message each author is trying to communicate. As such, we will be studying basic literary analysis, literary techniques, the cultural context of each work, and how to understand and dissect plot structure. Students will also learn basic essay structure and how to write literary analysis and persuasive essays. Our class sessions will provide a time for discussion, timed writing, projects, and presentations. Students will be encouraged to find the main point each author intended as well as how that point lines up with a biblical worldview and if and how to apply this point to their own lives.		Alyssa Bosanko	I earned my BA in Christian Ministries from Biola University. I also graduated from their Great Works program, and the Torrey Honors Institute where I learned how to read works critically with a biblical worldview. I have also been an English and Writing tutor where I taught high school students literary analysis and various types of essay structures.	Email: alyssa.j.bosanko@gmail.com
Friday	American Literature	In this course, we will study the great writers and poets (Bradstreet, Edwards, Hawthorne, Twain, Dickinson, Thoreau, et al.) from each era in American Literature (1630-1960). Students will enhance their critical thinking skills and develop their understanding of American Literature within a biblical worldview (and references to it in our society today). Our weekly class sessions will provide a time of interaction between the students and teacher where they will engage in meaningful discussions, conduct presentations, and participate in group projects and collaborative assignments. This class will include the study of poetry and short stories, novel reviews, literary devices, composition, timed writings, and thesis statements.	Book list to be provided; contact teacher. Friday	British Literature	The study of the history, culture and major writers of each era of English Literature is the focus of this class. In this course, all readings will be considered in context of historical, cultural, and philosophical influences of the time periods studied. Students will think, speak, and write critically about what they have read and these concepts and ideas will be discussed in class within a biblical worldview. They will generate and share their own thoughts and opinions about selected literary works, their ideas and understanding of key concepts through class participation, papers, projects, and presentations. Friday	Writing and Grammar I	This year long class for grades 6-12 will equip your student with the skills needed to write confidently and effectively. IEW uses a structure and style method that will build confidence in any student. We will be covering the following writing styles: poetry, reports, stories, and critiques. Along with writing, the class will cover vocabulary, grammar and public speaking. We will be using historical sources from the Explorers to the Gold Rush.		Karen Greek	Karen graduated from Hope International University with a major in Diversified General Studies and a minor in Psychology and Bible. She began her teaching career in the public school system. When it came time for her children to go to school, she knew God was calling her to homeschool. She has been with Western for the last 24 years. It is an honor and joy to equip students as they learn new skills and discover Gods plan for their lives. Friday	Writing and Grammar II	This is a full year course for 8-12th graders. It is a class for students who have taken Writing and Grammar I or have had previous experience with EIW and know the elements included in this program. This class will also include vocabulary, grammar, editing, public speaking and poetry using sources that focus on events from the Civil War to WW II. Materials: Three ringed binder, dividers, packet from Writing I, and the novel Animal Farm		Karen Greek	Karen graduated from Hope International University with a major in Diversified General Studies and a minor in Psychology and Bible. Friday	Introduction to Literary Analysis	Introduction to Literary Analysis (recommended 9th-10th grades) This course equips students to handle literature and to think and write about what they read. They will learn how to analyze the author's worldview, as well as their own. While developing the skill of annotation, they will learn the elements of literature such as plot structure, setting, characterization, and theme. They will learn to identify literary tools such as allusions, symbols, irony and more. They will learn how to write a thesis statement in a literary analysis essay. We will use Windows to the World, An Introduction to Literary Analysis, published by IEW. The course may include poetry and additional novels. History Courses

Friday	World History and Geography	This one year course, includes an overview of World History from creation to modern times. The students will also study Geography, and complete map work as it applies to our study of history. In addition to the primary text, the class will incorporate videos, presentations, and art projects, which will be integrated to enhance their understanding of history. The purchase of a few art supplies will be necessary.	Notgrass Exploring World History Textbook, Student Review, and Quiz Book. Abeka World Geography In Christian Perspective, 2nd edition. She has been teaching through WCPSP for almost 20 years, beginning with a photography course out of her home. She taught for 11 years for Biola Youth Academics, as well as 2 years for Ontario Christian. She has 2 daughters, both were homeschooled K-12, with the latter half of their education happening through WCPSP and Biola Youth Academics. Both have graduated (Liberty University & George Foxe University) and are pursuing grad programs, as they work within their chosen fields. Sue has been married for 38 years. Friday	US History	American History is fascinating, and throughout this class you will develop a deeper understanding and appreciation for what makes this nation great, and what sets it apart from the rest of the world. History should be more than just words in a textbook. Starting at Exploration and continuing through the Inauguration of Donald J. Trump, students will address both the workings of God and the shortcomings of humanity in the formation and progression of this great country. Students will gain an appreciation of the providence of God in the development of a country based on Biblical principles through events that have shaped America's history. Students discuss geography, politics, economics, and current events to formulate reasoned Christian viewpoints on issues of contemporary society. The class is enhanced through historically relevant media, mini debates and historical speeches, as well as a few games here and there to assist in prep for tests. During the class we will regularly complete art projects to enrich the study of America's past.	Bob Jones University Press: United States History Student Text, 5th edition - #505776, and the United States History Tests, 5th edition - #506725. Thursday	Government	This is an upper division, year-long course. During the first semester, in American Government we will focus on the founding principles that formed America. Students will learn why The United States was created and how it stands as a beacon of religious, civil, and economic freedom in the world. We will read from original source documents such as the Declaration of Independence, Federalist Papers, and the Constitution to learn how the three branches of American government were designed to control and limit power to protect freedom. Class discussion will explore how our founding principles have informed historical events and are being debated in today's political culture. Students will be challenged to use what they have learned to become active citizens in our democratic republic.	Matthew Spaulding's We Hold These Truths and Eric Metaxis If You Can Keep It	Ken Greek	I graduated from Pacific Christian College with a degree in Christian Ministry and a dual major in Christian Education and Preaching. Thursday	Economics	During the second semester, in Economics we will use Henry Hazlitt's book, as a springboard to explore the principles of micro and macroeconomics. This is a practical course that will require weekly reading of news sources for articles that illustrate each week's subject. Students will be exposed to the major economic systems, principles of supply and demand, government taxation and regulation, unions and other special interests, trade policies, minimum wage and rent control, and a variety of other current trends that are gaining interest like a universal basic income. Science Courses

Friday	Biology	This course is taught from a Creation perspective. We will use the Apologia book, "Exploring Creation with Biology" (3rd Edition). Topics will include the five kingdoms of life, the chemistry of life, cell structure and function, genetics, ecology, evolution (as a theory), as well as plant, animal, and human biology. Each week we will have a one-hour lecture/discussion period (using KeyNote slides), followed by a one-hour lab. We will spend approximately two weeks on each chapter. Students will be given pages to read each day at home, and questions to answer. Short quizzes will be given online for each chapter. Mr. Sanders is always available by phone or email, and is happy to answer any questions or concerns that arise. Friday	ASL I	ASL sign language is the only accredited sign for the United States. In this beginning class we will learn how to communicate in sign as we learn vocabulary, group practice, presentations, games, and tests. We will also explore some of the culture of the deaf community. There will be a new lesson every week. The student is expected to study the lesson at home, culminating in a quiz at the beginning of each class time. We will have an exam and a class presentation at the end of each quarter to reinforce what the students have learned.	Books required: "The American Sign Language Phrase Book" by Lou Fant (Available at Amazon or Barnes & Noble) Recommended: Any ASL dictionary for reference (Barnes & Nobles has many) Resources: ASLpro.com, Lifeprint.com (ASL University), Other various websites	Kathy Bartling	Kathy homeschooled all three of her children and worked in the homeschool community as field trip coordinator, transitioning to administrator. She has worked as an ASL interpreter for 15 years from the college classroom level and agency freelance work to now working as a video relay interpreter. She has taught ASL at several Co-op groups including Western for many years. She has such a passion for the deaf culture and for this beautiful language that it makes it an honor to teach your students!	Email: Kateagirl4u@gmail.com (951)-809-5284	Cell:
Friday	ASL II	This course is for those students who have already fulfilled one year of ASL. The class will fulfill the requirements for a 2nd year language course. It will encourage students to communicate in sign only and develop an extensive vocabulary of signs. Because this language is uniquely different from English, students will need to practice and study concepts at home to reinforce the lesson. Dialogues and other conversational techniques will be used. Testing and projects will also be assigned. This year's course will fulfill language credits for High School. Friday	ASL III	This course is a continuation from ASL 2. Having the necessary foundations for the structure of the language in ASL 2, this course will build on those skills by practicing dialogues, structure, sentence types, Classifiers, and review of vocabulary. This class will be conversation based in order to truly excel in the language. Friday	Guys Bible 9-12th	At a time of western history where Christianity is increasingly under more and more scrutiny, it is more important than ever for believers to know what they believe and why. Jesus said, "I am the way, and the truth, and the Life. No one comes to the Father except through me" (Jn. 14:6). This is a very bold statement to make. How do we know there is a God? How do we know what Jesus said is true? And how do we know what we read in the Christian Bible is trustworthy? These questions, and more, have been answered in the affirmative through logic, science and multiple historically reliable sources. In this class we will use the book, I Don't Have Enough Faith to be an Atheist by Frank Turek and Norman Geisler, to discuss and learn how we can be prepared to answer the skeptics with certainty and reason.	Resources needed for the class consist of the aforementioned book by Turek and Geisler, and the Bible. (There is a workbook that may be used to accompany your student, however, it is not required for the class).	Rick Schoon	Rick is the lead pastor of Summit Christian Church in Rancho Cucamonga.	909-618-8638 ricks@summitsocal.org
Friday	Yearbook	We will be offering a class to all who hope to produce an awesome printed book for all to share and enjoy. You have to engage all gears in communication and talent with social media. This is an interactive class. You will have deadlines throughout the year, and will work with faculty and leaders as you make use of your photo skills and creative flair. We will work with all classes to capture just the right product, as well as with extra-curricular activities throughout the year. In the Yearbook class students will learn 2-dimensional design, page layout using a page layout program, and photography basics as they work to create the school yearbook. Students create the pages, come up with the theme, provide most of the classroom and event photographs, and learn how to interface with adults as they work together throughout the year.	A camera and laptop are needed for this class.	Sue Basile	Sue graduated from Cal State Long Beach with a B. A. in Fine Art Photography, after pursuing Graphic Design for 4 years. Both of these subjects have been a great asset in teaching the Yearbook class. Sue got proficient at teaching Yearbook when she taught the class through Biola Youth Academics for 5 years. The class allows Sue to interact with the students and use her artistic skills to benefit the school by assisting in creating a beautiful Yearbook.	Email: sibue61@gmail.com

Friday	ASB	Students taking this course will learn what makes an effective Christian leader and how to develop their own leadership style. Students enrolled in this course will have a direct role in planning and operating high school events for the school. The emphasis of this course is learning and applying the skills needed for organizing and planning activities and problem-solving, both individually and in their committees. Students will learn how to establish a timeline, how to communicate effectively, and how to critically self-evaluate each event and their own participation in order to improve their leadership skills.	None	Karen Greek	Karen is a graduate of Hope International University with a BA in Diversified General Studies and a minor in Psychology and Bible. She began her teaching career in the public school system. When it came time for her children to go to school, she knew God was calling her to homeschool. She has been with Western for the last 24 years. It is an honor and joy to equip students as they learn new skills and discover God's plan for their lives. Friday	Photography	This fun and creative one-year course incorporates both digital and art photography. The class is interactive, with many class sessions working together as a class to explore the techniques being taught. This one year course is taught through bi-weekly assignments, lectures, video and various projects. Photographic styles are explored, including Documentary, Portraiture, Commercial, Landscape, and Nature. Art projects using photography will also be explored, including photo transfers, sun printing, photo collage, and the creation of a photo lamp. Through the diversity in the subjects covered students are sure to improve in their photo skills. A Field Trip is optional each semester, depending on desire and participation.	Students need a camera, but a simple point and shoot camera is sufficient. Use of a phone camera is not permitted. Students also need access to an inkjet printer for a couple of the photo art projects, and to print handouts that are sent. There is an additional fee for art materials used. There is no textbook for this class. Handouts and assignments will be e-mailed to students as needed.	Sue Basile	Sue graduated from Cal State Long Beach with a B. A. in Fine Art Photography, after pursuing Graphic Design for 4 years. She has been teaching through WCPSP for almost 20 years, beginning with a photography course out of her home. She taught for 11 years for Biola Youth Academics, as well as 2 years for Ontario Christian. She has 2 daughters, both were homeschooled K-12, with the latter half of their education happening through WCPSP and Biola Youth Academics. Both have graduated (Liberty University & George Foxe University) and are pursuing grad programs, as they work within their chosen fields. Sue has been married for 38 years. She loves history and photography, but her passion is investing in the lives of her students, and infusing God into every subject she teaches. Making life-long followers of Christ is her greatest reward.	Email: sibue61@gmail.com
Friday	Career Exploration	This is a full year elective course. Living a God planned life requires thought. Instead of graduating from high school with a shrug of the shoulders and a sigh, students will address this question in the year long elective course. Students will be intentionally discovering and exploring the personal path God has set for them. They will be exploring areas of interest, strength, and talent that God has blessed them with. Students will hear from guest speakers and attend field trips that enhance their exploration. High school is the perfect time to explore and intentionally seek God's plan.	TBA(materials fee)		This class is offered at no cost for all 9th-12th grade students

Friday	Theatre/ VAPA	This is a credit class and will prepare students for various theatre skills. High School students will be earning VAPA credits. Students will work together and learn how to write, produce, cast, plan, set design-build stages, and light and sound tech. In addition students will learn proper stage technique, theater terminology and various styles of theater. They will also be learning improv and acting skills. Our goal is to have one performance in the fall and one in the spring. The junior high students will be offered the opportunity to audition for and be cast in a part in the high school performance. All VAPA requirements will be met. This is a hands-on class. We plan on also attending performances, backstage tours and sit in on rehearsals as available. We will also cover an author study.	Supplies needed - three ring binder, dividers, plain paper, rule paper, highlighter, colored pencils, sharpies, red, blue and black pens	Abbie Morris and Christy Miller	Abbie Morris has been with our psp since 2014 when enrolling her children in Pre-K and Kindergarten. Friday	Health	Health -Exploring Creation with Health and Nutrition - 9th-12th grade This is a one semester course, focusing on health and wellness from a Christian perspective. This course will allow your student to dig deep into health and will teach them foundations of health that will help shape the rest of their lives. The course will cover physical, mental, emotional and spiritual health. Topics covered include body systems, nutrition, exercise, infections, first aid, sleep, mental health, mental illness, emotions, interpersonal relationships, and spiritual life. Hands-on projects will include a personal nutrition assessment, food additive search, fast food analysis, an exercise record, sleep assessment, basic first aid training and more. Tests, reading and short answer reading comprehension questions will be given as homework. Required materials are The Apologia textbook & student notebook for "Exploring Creation with Health and Nutrition". On a personal note, I taught this class to my own child and others at home. I cannot speak highly enough about how it changed the outlook of health and nutrition for my daughter and her friends. They all have made life changes to improve their health as a result of this course.	Apologia Health	Maureen Bosanko	Maureen has a B.A. in Communicative Disorders and a B.A. in Bible from Pacific Christian College, and a M.A. in Communicative Disorders from California State University, Fullerton.
